- These are suggestions for ways to keep the conversation going. Don't feel compelled to discuss everything in these documents.
- Be conscientious when giving your opinions—let mentees form their own impressions about Duke. Understand that every experience is different.
- Being candid will help your mentee feel more inclined to be sincere and vulnerable in return.
- You may not know the answer to some of your mentee's questions—don't be afraid to say "I don't know," and direct them to information in the resources guide.
